

ROSS CHUN

AGE: 60

Director of Development

I am running for re-election to the Aliso Viejo City Council because I feel that consistent, experienced and ethical representation of our city is critically important, and that is what I have provided throughout my 12 years on the council. I have served in leadership roles on local, county, regional and state level boards to ensure that Aliso Viejo's voice is heard, and as a result, I have been equipped to report on the issues that affect our city at the end of each council meeting. I prioritize public safety and the safety of our staff and contracted vendors, while ensuring that the community has an opportunity to engage with their local government representatives. I have brought creative solutions forward to solve our budget challenges and I am actively involved with businesses, educational institutions, community groups and senior communities, and mentor students from our local schools to help them develop their interests in public policy and volunteerism. With my wife, my two children, and our dog Ari, I enjoy the quality of life that we have built, and I look forward to guiding this city and contributing to our city council's efforts to continue positive growth.