

RHONDA BOLTONCity of Huntington Beach Appointed Councilmember

I'm Rhonda Bolton, a mom, small-business owner, and 13-year Huntington Beach resident. I currently serve on the City Council because I want a safe, strong Huntington Beach where we all can thrive.

I'm the voice of reason on the City Council, and I've applied my 15+ years of experience as a federal public policy attorney/advisor to advocate for effective, practical, fiscally-sound city policies. For example, I've supported measures to hire more police officers to enhance our safety; opposed the secretive, sweetheart deal with the airshow and insisted on it being public; helped reduce our unsheltered homeless population by 30+%; and fought to protect our public library.

The airshow and library issues are among the many issues that put our city government on the wrong track. We already feel this in our pocketbooks and see it in our streets. It's time to end the chaos and mismanagement at City Hall. The City Council should focus on safe streets, fixing projected budget deficits, a healthy local economy, and responding to our residents' needs.

Let's work together to get Huntington Beach back on track. With your vote, I can continue fighting for a Council that is responsive, and accountable, to you. For more information visit <https://www.rhondabolton.com/>.
