JEFFREY P. BROWN
NOCCCD Boardmember/Engineer

Community colleges have never been more important. NOCCCD provides low-cost education to nearly 56,000 students, including returning veterans, displaced workers needing new skills, young adults preparing for university transfer, and residents of all ages who value education to improve their lives.

As your trustee, I focus on long-term effectiveness and fiscal responsibility. Community colleges belong to you, the public. A trustee's primary role is to represent and protect your interests while ensuring an excellent education for students. I have been an independent voice, asking hard questions and insisting on accountability. I am not any group's "special interest" candidate.

Trustees oversee a $574,000,000 construction bond and a $306,000,000 annual budget. As a Registered Professional Engineer, I have the expertise needed to ensure that we receive the most benefit for each tax dollar spent.

My wife, two daughters, and I attended Fullerton College, and I have been a local homeowner for 46 years. In addition to Master's degrees in Engineering and Public Administration, I have over 45 years' experience in project management, taught in public schools, and served as a Director for two nonprofit organizations.

I want to continue my service to you and would appreciate your vote.
