JORDAN ABUSHAWISH
Parent/Healthcare Advocate

Jordan Abushawish is the father of two Fullerton School District students and lives one block from their school. He understands how difficult it can be for families to balance work and household responsibilities, stay informed, access school resources, and advocate for their children. For three years, he has served on the Rolling Hills School Site Council, working with parents, teachers, and administrators to support students and improve communication.

Jordan Abushawish is a parent and healthcare advocate running for School Board Trustee Area 3 to bring a parent's voice and practical leadership to the Fullerton School Board. Jordan loves serving his community, from volunteering at community backpack and local food distribution events.

As our School Boardmember, Jordan Abushawish will strengthen campus safety, expand behavioral health support, improve communication, and ensure every family understands the resources available to help their children succeed. He will work to reduce absenteeism, improve student achievement, and support teachers and school employees.

With a career in public policy and healthcare, Jordan has the experience to bring people together, manage issues, and make responsible decisions for students and families. Jordan Abushawish will listen to parents, support educators, protect our public schools, and help Fullerton remain a leader in educational excellence.
