

MARIE TSAASAN

Teacher/Mother

I want all our neighbors to feel welcome and have the city services we need to thrive here, at all stages of life. I want all our children to have the opportunity to buy a home and raise their families here, to live and work in this beautiful city, to play and grow in a safe, supportive and nurturing environment.

I was born on the Navy base in San Diego into a family dedicated to public service. I graduated from Redlands High, earned my Master's in Informatics from the University of California, Irvine and have published peer-reviewed research with internationally recognized scholars in top conferences in my field. My family has lived in Aliso Viejo for more than 20 years and I have raised my two children with the same strong moral compass and work ethic centered in community that my family instilled in me.

I will work to:

- Increase community input in City spending priorities;

- Support local businesses so they prosper while meeting the needs of our residents;

- Build housing that serves the needs of residents at all stages of life;

- Improve safety conditions on our sidewalks and roadways.
