Instructor/Councilmember

For more than 40 years, Costa Mesa has been the place I'm proud to call home. It's where I grew up, where my wife and I are raising our family, and where I've dedicated my life to serving others.

For more than three decades, I've dedicated my career to educating and mentoring the next generation of building inspection professionals in the construction industry. Throughout my career, I've helped countless students develop successful careers emphasizing safety, integrity, accountability, and craftsmanship because investing in people helps build stronger communities.

For the past five and a half years, I've had the privilege of serving on the Costa Mesa City Council. My philosophy has always been simple: keep my boots on the ground, listen to residents, and work collaboratively to solve problems. I believe the best decisions are made by being present, accessible, and accountable to the people I serve.

I remain committed to strengthening public safety, supporting youth sports, planning responsibly, investing in our city's future, and preserving what makes Costa Mesa an exceptional place to live, work, and raise a family. Together, we can continue building a community that future generations will be proud to call home.
