

DANIEL MORGANAGE: 43

Business Owner/Parent

I'm Daniel Morgan, a small-business owner, husband, and father of two daughters in our local schools. I've called Costa Mesa home for almost 20 years, and I believe local government should solve problems, spend responsibly, and deliver results.

As Managing Principal of Marterra, I help local families and homeowners every day. On Costa Mesa's Finance and Pension Advisory Committee, I've advocated for responsible budgeting and long-term financial stability without asking taxpayers to pay more. I've also served as a county planning commissioner, a Big Brother, and on the board of Let's Be Kind.

I'm running to keep Costa Mesa safe, affordable, and fiscally responsible. That means reducing property crime, strengthening community policing, streamlining permitting so businesses can open faster, and investing in the parks, streets, and infrastructure that improve everyday quality of life.

I believe City Hall should deliver results, solve problems, and be accountable to the people it serves. I'd be honored to earn your vote.
