

ARIANNA BARRIOSAGE: 56

City Councilmember, City of Orange

Orange residents deserve leaders who will fight for them. Decades of fiscal instability and scant economic growth have sent Orange in the wrong direction. As Mayor, I want to change that.

We need City government that works for everyone with new ideas, disciplined management, and strong fiscal controls to ensure our future. We need fundamental change that puts residents first and challenges the status quo.

As a businessowner and recipient of Orange Chamber of Commerce's Small Business of the Year award, I know how to balance a budget and prioritize the essentials such as Police, Fire, roads, water, sewers, and parks.

As Councilmember, I've gotten things done:

- Lowered the crime rate
- Strengthened code enforcement
- Fought illegal smoke shops and massage parlors
- Introduced strong fiscal policy

But we can do better.

As Mayor, I will:

- Prioritize City debt reduction
- Stop deficit spending
- Tackle homelessness with compassion and enforcement
- Ensure Chapman University pays their fair share

My record has earned endorsements from trusted leaders: Orange County Supervisor Vincente Sarmiento, Orange City Councilmember Ana Gutierrez, former Orange Mayor Tita Smith, and Orange Unified School District Trustees Kris Erikson, Andrea Yamasaki, and Sara Pelly.

Together, can we get Orange back on track.

I respectfully ask for your vote for Mayor.
