

UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE, 45TH DISTRICT

NAME: AL SALEHI

PARTY: NONE

OCCUPATION: Trustee, Buena Park Library District

Every Day can be Election Day!

Imagine you could've voted on budget and kept the government from shutting down, lowering our credit. This is an opportunity to take power from big companies, having as much input as multibillionaires.

When you elect me to Congress, I'm your partner. On my congressional website, I'll allow my district's voters to vote on an upcoming bill. All these results will be displayed publicly. I'll provide Pros/Cons and where I'm leaning on every bill in advance. If the majority of my district differs with me, then I'll vote accordingly.

On the same site, voters can collaborate with one another, creating new bills of their own, pitching them online so we can make our country better, together.

Eventually voters everywhere will demand to have the system we started in our district, so everyone can be party to a more direct democracy.

I was born in Southern California and raised in Laguna. I attended UCI, pursuing advanced education at UCLA and USC.

I'm currently a Trustee of a publicly-elected board overseeing a multimillion dollar budget. I'm a former BPLD Ambassador to WOCCOC. I was an advisor to President Clinton, representing CADCA from LBHS. I've been an advisor to Assemblyman Norby and received endorsements from Governor Schwarzenegger, Governor Richardson and President Clinton. I'm a frequent FoxNews.com commentator on behalf of UCLA regarding US foreign relations. I've authored several interactive technology patents. I'm a fiscal conservative and a social progressive believing in small government and large opportunity.
