William Fitzgerald, as a young college student, pledged to follow a statement made by a distant relative: "Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country".

William Fitzgerald became an Infantry Officer, commanded an Infantry Company during the Viet Nam war, served for over three years in the US Army Special Forces (Green Berets).

William Fitzgerald directed his three sons to follow his creed "to serve":

The oldest, an OC Deputy Sheriff and National Guard Major (Aviation), returned last November from eleven months of combat in Tikrit, Iraq. His second son, a California Highway Patrol Officer and National Guard Captain (Cavalry), remains in combat at Tal Afar, Iraq. His youngest son is a distinguished High School Science Teacher.

William Fitzgerald is reminded of his life's creed every morning while enduring pain resulting from his military service.

If elected, William Fitzgerald will serve the people of Anaheim, not the special interest groups that are being allowed to financially destroy our city.
